What can Parents Do?

Keep your computer in easily viewable places.

Talk regularly with your child about online activities that he or she is involved in.

Tell your child that you may review his or her online communications if you think there is reason for concern.

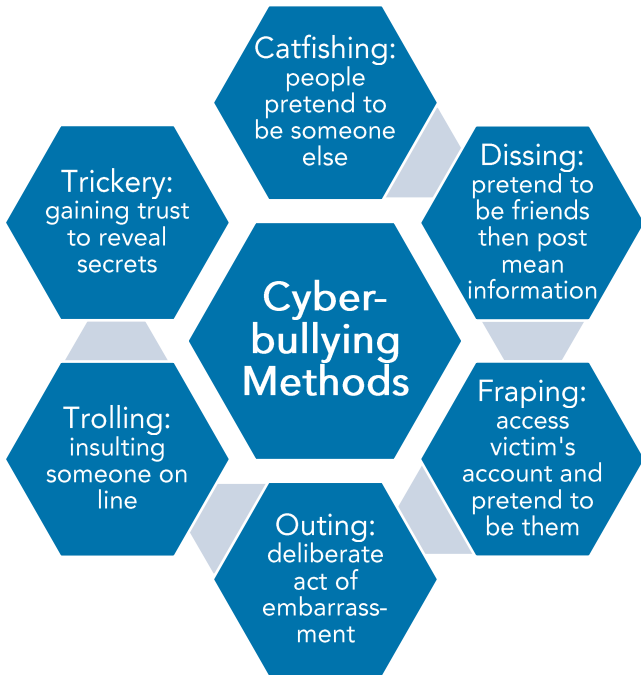

Consider installing parental control filtering software and/or tracking programs.

Educate your child about the consequences of inappropriate use of his or her electronics.

70.9% of tweens and 87% of teens encountered nudity or content of a sexual nature online.
*Bark's Annual Report: 2020 Research on Kids and Technology

The National Center for Education Statistics defines Cyberbullying as “willful and repeated harm inflicted through the use of computers, cell phones, or other electronic devices.”

76.7% of tweens and 82% of teens experienced bullying as a bully, victim, or witness.
